Dear Friends,

June 2019

We all know that the metals markets have been and are manipulated. Especially silver. If you time it right (meaning now) this could work in your favor! You might be surprised to learn that the gold -silver ratio is nearly 90 this is a 26-year high! This is an opportunity to pick up silver at the best values in decades!

Silver is available in several forms that we recommend. One item, that many would like to own, but are confused about, are what some of us have called junk silver.

It got this name because the coins are mostly circulated and have been in and out of a few pockets and cash registers. However, they are anything but junk! Each coin contains 90% silver. They were minted by the United States mint until 1965. After 1964 we stopped minting the 90% silver coins until 1986 when the U.S. started minting the .999 1oz Silver Eagle as a bullion coin which although has a $1 on the coin has never been, nor has been intended to be used as pocket currency.

Why buy 90% silver coin?

1. One reason is that it carries a very low premium right now.
2. The 90% Silver U.S. coins offer a way to own small pieces of silver rather than the full one ounce silver coins or larger bars.
3. They have been used as money. They dimes , quarters and half dollars are instantly recognized as real money.
4. 90% silver is easy to liquidate. No need to assay
5. They have never been confiscated.

6. Because the bags are available in several sizes, from a full $1000 face value bag to a $100 face value bag size, owning 90% silver can be achieved quite easily.
7. They are ideal as a survival currency. They are real money that could be used again one day but with a much higher value than today since they are no longer minted and are finite, and tangible.

Now, let's address the part that confuses some people. What is face value?

Face Value means the value stamped into the face of the coin. For instance, a dime has a ten cent face value. Ten dimes makes a $1 face value. A quarter has a 25 cent face value. Four quarters makes a $1 face value and two half dollars makes a $1 face value.

When we say $1000 face value bag this refers to the FACE VALUE or amount of coins in the bag. This is not the value or cost of the bag. You could get $1000 face value for $1000 but it would be the modern base metal coins from the bag not 90% silver!

- To help our readers understand this most simply let's say a full \$1000 bag is purchased at \$12,000. That means you are paying \$12 per face value. Each newly minted bag starts out as containing 723oz of silver. However, due to circulation some of the coin could get worn so a will probably contain closer to 715oz of actual silver. To see how much you are paying per ounce of silver, simply divide the cost of the bag in this instance \$12,000 by 715 and you see it is \$16.78 per ounce. (just a made up price for easy figuring) Divide the price by $\frac{1}{2}$ or $\frac{1}{4}$ to get smaller bag prices. They are also available in \$100 face value bags.

We strongly recommend having at least one bag for every member of the family.
~ More on other silver choices later in this letter.~

The following note came from our friend Roger Wiegand, Editor of "Trader Tracks" newsletter.

"After three failed "new" business plans and losing too many key managers and going public one year ago, they have totally lost their way. Merkel previously said no bailout by German central bank but that's their last chance. After or even before Merkel leaves, a bailout is offered by The German central bank in desperation. They were among four largest banks in Germany. JP Morgan said publicly they to stop tinkering. The German public won't like a bail out and the Commerzbank is next to be bailed. These are the two big boys In Germany and Europe. Red lights flashing on the banks and super low interest rates won't let them earn income. And rates are going lower!!

I think all hang on for 12-18 months, then a huge credit smash. It'll make a stocks drop look puny by comparison. Feeble answer will be a Return to the Gold Standard by USA. Tiny ratio like 1-3 percent per dollar. This drives gold and silver prices to the moon.” Roger Wiegand 6-5-19

Our friend Arch Crawford is also seeing some urgency in getting the timing right for the best gold acquisition:

“Friday, GOLD broke solidly above its triangulating corrective pattern which had been holding it captive since the February intermediate top. That is the best short term action this year. The question then becomes: Can it approach and do the same with its Long Term Resistance Line? That line has kept it captive for about six years. To be determined! It is a strong technical positive that the price has stayed well above its 200-Day MA (Blue line). Then Friday’s action consisted of an upside gap above the 50-Day MA (Red line) and also the Triangle forming over the last few weeks. It is also somewhat traditional that GOLD gapping Up is in mirror image of the major stock indices gapping Down simultaneously. We guess it’s Fear that brings things back to traditional standards! And fear is born of uncertainty. Do we have „uncertainty“? We would say “in Spades” or more originally “in Swords” as Tarot would claim. Just completed the astro-analysis for June and THIS COULD BE THE BIG ONE! ADD to WHATEVER POSITIONS YOU HAVE, NOW!” ~ Arch Crawford

SILVER CATEGORY ONE INSURANCE

We’ve already gone over in detail the 90% silver U.S. Coins. Now we’d like to tell you about some other choices in this low premium category. These are some you can purchase in your Precious Metals IRA too. The most popular is the United States 1oz Silver Eagle. These coins that were first minted in 1986 and continue to be produced each year contain 1oz of .999 fine Silver. They are packaged in mint rolls of 20 coins each or can be ordered in a mint sealed Monster Box of 500 coins which consists of 25 rolls of 20 coins each.

The next most popular coins are the one ounce Canadian Silver Maple Leaf and the one ounce Silver Austrian Philharmonic. We have quite a few clients who like to pick up rolls of coins from several countries each year. They enjoy the diversity of design and fun of collecting something of real value. If this interests you, we will be happy to put together a collection of beautiful bullion coins from around the world.

Silver Bars and Rounds are another choice for silver investors to consider. They run a little less per ounce and still make for an easy affordable acquisition for most every budget.

How do you feel about fiat money? When Richard Nixon abandoned the Gold Standard in 1971, the dollar was no longer convertible into gold. This made our new fiat dollar vulnerable to inflation. It loses value in the presence of economic uncertainty and can drop in value to little or nothing if too much is printed. This has happened in several countries already. In the past 100 years we have witnessed the collapse of countries who, because of government interference and the flooding of fiat currencies devalued their money to the point of barely being worth the paper it was printed on. Examples: Starting even further back in first century Rome, with the Roman denarius, which was originally a 94% silver coin. By the time all of the Emperors had taken their little chunk out of the denarius it had only 2% silver content and became worthless as a currency there by bringing on the collapse of the Roman Empire.

France when down the road of hyperinflation 3 times! The last time, devaluing its fiat franc by 99%. Some other countries who failed or stumbled hard or fell economically at the expense of its people because of fiat money Argentina, Germany, China, Bolivia, Georgia and the list goes on. We don't have space to go in to all of them but the history is readily available.

The point is, fiat money is monopoly money, it can keep you in the game for awhile, but eventually the game is over and poof! You're left holding onto something that was pretend all along. Eventually, you're lucky if you can sell the whole game box at a garage sale to by popcorn.

We are not advocating getting out of all cash. What we are advising is to have a strong percentage of your wealth in something tangible, Owning physical Precious Metals could just be the one most important thing to own right now as a way to protect your wealth and purchasing power.

“Paper money eventually returns to its intrinsic value: ZERO.” ~Voltaire

The U.S. minted 1oz 1/2oz 1/4oz 1/10oz Gold Eagle coin

These are our favorites at this time. If you don't need as specific year, the one ounce Gold Eagles which normally have a little higher premium than the Canadian Maple Leaf or South African Krugerrand can be purchased now for about the same rate. They and several other Gold bullion coins can also be added to your Precious Metals IRA. Clients often ask for rolls of these coins. The large one ounce $50 Gold Eagle is available in tubes of 20. The half-ounce $25 Gold Eagle are packed in tubes of 40 coins, the 1/4 oz $ $10 Gold Eagle comes 40 to a tube and the 1/0oz $5 Gold Eagle is in 50 coin tubes. They are also available in Monster Boxes or singles.

Gold's high was nearly $2,000.00 toward the end of 2011. At the time of this writing, Gold spot is around $1334.00 . We are seeing movement again. The spot price of gold June first was 1281.20 today it's 1334.00 per ounce. This is nearly a $53 increase in just over a month in spite of some nice pullbacks! Call us 800-494-4149 and take advantage of any pullbacks quickly. Tell us your goals and intentions and we will help direct you to make them a reality.

We also are liking the prices of platinum right now. The ratio gold-to-platinum is about 1.64 , super low! If you don't have enough platinum, pick some up now. We feel that palladium is overpriced at this time compared to the other metals. However, we do buy as well as sell, so if you bought low you might consider converting some of your palladium to another metal.

One more bit of housekeeping:

As you probably know, we are a national precious metals company and for over 2 decades have been in the business of educating and helping our clients acquire the best metals to fit their needs or liquidate their precious metals when they are ready to do so.

I'm writing to you because once a year or so we call to make sure that the contact information we have on file for our readers and clients stays up to date.

Our newsletters are still free and we hope you enjoy them. Please call us at 800-494-4149 to help us to serve you better and update anything, name, phone numbers, mailing address, or email that is no longer current.

Because we have always offered our newsletter free and our subscribers have grown to about 7000 we needed to go to an email format to keep costs down. Sometimes, even though we have the correct email address the letters won't go through unless a reader has signed up online or added us to their address book.

If you or someone you know, have not been receiving our newsletters online; please go to our web page www.buysilvernow.com . There, on the lower right-hand of the home page you will find a place where you can subscribe on line. That way your computer will recognize that it is OK to hear from us once a month or so. Also, again, I'd like to invite you to check out "THE BOX" on our web page often for current specials! And like and share our Resource Consultants, Inc. Facebook page.
