Dear Friends,

October, 2019

We will begin this letter with an apology. In the process of updating our website design we had a glitch which made the last two mailings impossible to open. Frustrating to say the least! Our web designer has now put things back to the previous way of accessing and all should work well now. There is one advantage for you though. Because the "What's in The Box?" special alert did not go out as intended today, we will post it right now in this letter.

The worldwide buying of gold and other precious metals as a safe haven is returning now for several reasons.

First off, ownership of physical precious metals offers a safer way to diversify investment risk. Paper markets investments can and often do simply collapse or crash to zero. Even real estate can not only lose value but become impossible to liquidate when you need to.

Tangible precious metals, especially gold, has functioned as money for thousands of years. After 1971 when Nixon took the U.S. off the Gold Standard in favor of a fiat currency method, Gold has been considered an investment choice. Gold is a monetary asset and its value is not tied to any particular country, unlike national currencies.

Gold does not rust or corrode. The yellow metal is unique and coveted above all other metals for this durability and malleability. A sheet of gold can be as thin as 0.000127 millimeters. That is 400 times thinner than a human hair.

Because Gold does not tarnish when exposed to air, it can be used to make printed circuit boards and electrical conductors. Its reflectivity makes it usable in shielding skyscrapers and even spacecraft from the sun's heat.

The People's Bank of China has boosted its holdings of gold to 62.64 million ounces in September marking 10 straight months of buying. This is an increase of 190,000 ounces from August. China continues gold buying with over 100 tons since December.

Gold, once used as money is now the metal we fall back on when other forms of currency don't work. It is insurance against hard times.

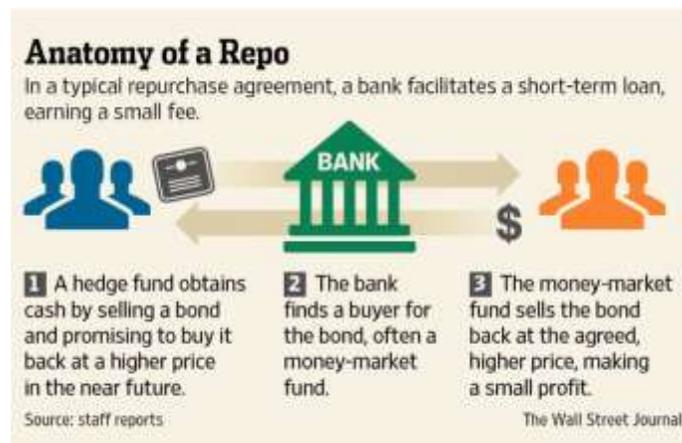

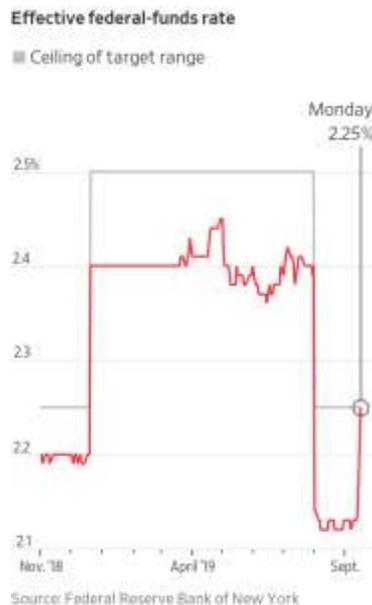

Gold, Silver, Platinum or Palladium in the form of coin, bar or jewelry can be a private way to pass on your wealth to your loved ones.

At the present time, our U.S. Dollar is looking pretty good. Even though we have seen the renewed interest in private ownership of precious metals and a slight increase in the price of metals in the past few months, bare in mind that when the dollar falls against other reserve currencies people often rush to the security of gold "hard money". This happened between 1998 and 2008 nearly tripling the price of Gold. In fact, Gold about doubled in price between 2008 and 2012. What brought on or will again bring on the decline of the U.S. dollar? Several things: A large budget and outflow of domestic currency to foreign markets or what is known as trade deficits. When a nation grows in debt and loses its ability to repay it often makes things worse by printing large amounts of currency notes. This might inflate the difficulty away or at least postpone it for a time but this is a band-aid fix and if hyperinflation kicks in it always ends in a crash. There has never been a government who has been able to control hyperinflation. If or more likely, when the Euro crashes, the U.S. dollar will be in jeopardy and could go through a currency crisis that will be unlike any ever experienced here before. If the U.S. adopts an electronic currency system, which many of us believe is already being organized, it will be the end of any financial freedom as we have come to know them.

Electronic currency would allow the U.S. Government to have instant and continual access to every cent going into or out of your account. This will also give easy access to direct taxation through debit. The government will say paper currencies are responsible for the crash and that a debit card is the new and improved method of purchasing power.

There are some serious fissures in the financial system which is setting up America for a financial crisis which could make the 2008 look like a cake walk. Quantitative easing makes fiat money more easily available and less valuable. It is a joke! Bubbles are being created and the popping will be heard worldwide. How can you take steps to protect yourself? Start by reducing debt and bonds and take your profits or at the very least get your initial investment out of some stocks and add precious metals "REAL MONEY" to your portfolio!

“The NY branch of the Federal Reserve added a further $75 billion in cash to clogged bank lending markers Friday, taking its four-day total to just over $275 billion, as investors continue to debate the causes of this week’s spike in short-term borrowing costs.” ~The Street~

This moving of monies by the Fed into Wall Street of $275 billion took place in a matter of four days!

Henry C Wallich was a German American economist and central banker, professor at Yale and served frequently as US government advisor at the Treasury. He was a long time member of the Federal Reserve Board and its leading authority on international finance.

A couple of Henry's bits of wisdom: "We have stopped thinking of sound money as honest money. When our government issues money, we have a right to expect that money to be worth tomorrow what it is today. If you think about it, government-issued money is a contract with the people, inflation is taxation without representation. Inflation introduces an element of deceit into most of our economic dealings. Everybody makes contracts knowing perfectly well that they will not be kept in the terms of constant values. This condition is hard to reconcile with simple honesty."

A few years ago, January of 2008 my husband Pat wrote a little book "The Value of Honest Money". He firmly believed and we still believe that to have something work for the long term, it has to be real. If those who lost everything in the crash of 2008 had only put 20-25% of their assets into tangible precious metals, most all of them would have survived with far less financial casualties and heartbreak.

Fiat money is backed by debt and all debt will be repaid either by the lender or the borrower. If a bank holds your money and the bank goes broke or does not want to let you withdraw the funds you have entrusted it with, they could issue you stocks in a worthless bank.

Have you ever wondered why Gold's chemical symbol is Au? Gold is a rare metallic element with a melting point of 1064 degrees centigrade and a boiling point of 2808 degrees centigrade. Its chemical symbol, Au, is short for the Latin word for gold, 'Aurum', which literally means "Glowing Dawn". It has several properties that have made it very useful to mankind over the years, notably its excellent conductive properties and its inability to react to water or oxygen.

"For more than two thousand years gold's natural qualities made it man's universal medium of exchange. In contrast to political money, gold is honest money that has survived the ages and will live on long after political fiats of today have gone the way of paper. No other commodity enjoys as much universal acceptability and marketability as gold". ~Hans F. Sennholz

RECOMMENDATIONS

Our top recommendation at the present time is to get your house in order! Decide which of all your assets could be at the greatest risk right now? How much longevity do you think the stock market has to the upside? Most fortunes are lost by fear or greed. Fear of not knowing what to do or when, or getting greedy and not selling when a market has neared its peak and gambling on one's ability to pick the exact top or bottom of a market which is nearly impossible to do.

It is important to select the right precious metals product to fit your own goals and ideas. Yes, one can quite possibly become wealthy with certain physical precious metals, but the main reason to own metals is to protect the wealth you have built up over the years. And remember, if someone calls you with the greatest deal in a lifetime, please call us and we can tell you if it's a good thing for you or not. Possibly, we can do better!

GOLD CATEGORY ONE INSURANCE

The most loved of all the metals, gold, is sought after and cherished by people and governments worldwide for both its beauty and its many uses. Gold has survived and grown in popularity and a store of wealth as real money for thousands of years. Even when fiat currencies throughout the world have failed, gold comes up shining.

If all we do is maintain our lifestyle and purchasing power in the next few years, we can feel ahead of the game. Gold is the place to be in an overall tenuous market place.

In this first category, the one we call insurance, because it is to protect what you have, there several choices we like. First, in line is the U.S. one ounce Gold Eagle, then the Austrian Philharmonic, Canadian Maple Leaf and the South African Krugerrand. There are others of course; these are just the most popular. Oh, and the 1oz American Gold Buffalo is another beauty!

We should all have a few fractional gold coins such as the 1/2 oz , 1/4oz , and 1/10oz Gold Eagles or even the British Sovereigns and 20 Franc Gold Coins. When Gold goes to say...

$5000 an ounce, and that might be a low figure, you might not want to have to spend or liquidate a full ounce.

GOLD CATEGORY TWO INSURANCE WITH A KICKER

We only recommend U.S. minted coins in this category and the in next. Because they are American coins ,these are easily recognized and liquidated when the time comes.

Lightly circulated older U.S. coins are loved for their history, value and magnificence. Keep in mind that these are the coins with high bullion content and a very low semi-numismatic premium. $20 Liberty or St Gaudens Type Double Eagles are nearly 1 full ounce of fine gold in content .9675 troy ounce. The $10 Indian and $10 Type have .4638 troy ounce of fine gold. Call for current prices on Extra Fine, XF coins.

GOLD CATEGORY THREE NUMISMATIC

SILVER CATEGORY ONE INSURANCE

In this insurance category of silver we still like the bags of 90% silver U.S. coins minted prior to 1965. The premium is low and they can be still readily available. These coins are no longer minted and when the supply is bought up the premiums can go up substantially!

A common question regarding 90% silver is “How much silver is in a bag of 90% silver? To help you calculate: 90% silver coin is normally traded as “face value bags” in lots of $1000 $500 , or $250 and $100 bags. A full $1,000 Face Value bag contains approximately 715 ounces of pure silver. This takes into account the wear and tear that occurs during circulation.

To calculate what you are paying per ounce on 90% silver, use this example: if the price per face value is 13.60 then a thousand dollar bag would cost $13,600. Divide that by the number of ounces in the bag 715 and you see you are paying $19.02 per silver ounce. Then , it is easy to calculate that a half bag would cost $6800 and a quarter of a bag would be $3400.00 all being $19.02 per oz. A $100 face value bag would be $1360. These older U.S. coins are easily recognized and afford people the opportunity to have silver pieces smaller than one ounce which could be a very handy thing in purchasing situations where you might not want to trade a full ounce or more for something.

Next, consider picking up some bullion bars and rounds. Most rounds are purchased in 20 ounce rolls of one ounce pieces. However there are also some beautiful specialty rounds available in 2oz and 5oz sizes. Bars are normally 1oz, 5oz, 10oz or 100oz.

Next, look at the popular modern silver coins such as the American Eagle, Canadian Maple Leaf, Austrian Philharmonic, Australian Kangaroo, Mexican Libertad and British Britannia. Some of our clients like getting 20 and 25 coin rolls of each of these, especially for holiday giving. Sovereign coins such as these are minted by the government mints in each country, carry a face value and the nations they are minted from guarantee the purity and content to be correct. All of these are available by the roll or monster box.

These beautiful antiquities are still one of the most beloved of the American Silver coins ever minted. At this time, they are available at prices that compete with what they sold for a decade ago! Choose yours in a circulated condition ranging from XF to AU in rolls of 20 or in collectable numismatic Mint State conditions graded by PCGS or NCG. Call for availability and current pricing. 800-494-4149.

PLATINUM

Palladium had performed fantastically and we have seen platinum lagging behind gold. This could be the time to stock on you Platinum. Buy low; sell high could be a good plan here if you were one of the wise ones who picked up Palladium a few years ago. Regardless, adding some Platinum to your portfolio at this time could be a pretty smart move!
